An open letter to women. No. 1.
Laurel Ave., San Francisco, May 18, 1892.
"Dear friend of women:
"When my baby was born, five years ago, I got up in six days. Far too soon. Result: falling of the womb. Ever since I've been miserable.
"I tried everything: doctors, medicines, apparatus; but grew worse.
"I could hardly stand; and walking without support was impossible.
"At last I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it. The effect was astonishing. Since I took the first bottle my womb has not troubled me, and, thanks only to you, I am now well. Every suffering woman should know how reliable your compound is. It is a sure cure."

HALL'S Vegetable Sicilian HAIR RENEWER.

The great popularity of this preparation, after its test of many years, should be an assurance, even to the most skeptical, that it is really meritorious. Those who have used HALL'S HAIR RENEWER know that it does all that is claimed.

It causes new growth of hair on bald heads—provided the hair follicles are not dead, which is seldom the case; restores natural color to gray or faded hair; preserves the scalp healthful and clear of dandruff; prevents the hair falling off or changing color; keeps it soft, pliant, lustrous, and causes it to grow long and thick.

HALL'S HAIR RENEWER produces its effects by the healthful influence of its vegetable ingredients, which invigorate and rejuvenate. It is not a dye, and is a delightful article for toilet use. Containing no alcohol, it does not evaporate quickly and dry up the natural oil, leaving the hair harsh and brittle, as do other preparations.

Buckingham's Dye
FOR THE WHISKERS
Colors them brown or black, as desired, and is the best dye, because it is harmless; produces a permanent natural color; and, being a single preparation, is more convenient of application than any other.

Constipation
Demands prompt treatment. The results of neglect may be serious. Avoid all harsh and drastic purgatives, the tendency of which is to weaken the bowels. The best remedy is Ayer's Pills. Being purely vegetable, their action is prompt and their effect always beneficial. They are an admirable Liver and After-dinner pill, and everywhere endorsed by the profession.

"Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."—Dr. I. E. Fowler, Bridgeport, Conn.

THE FAULT OF THE AGE.

The fault of the age is a mad endeavor
To leap to heights that were made to climb;
By a burst of strength or a thought that is clever
We plan to outwit and forestall Time.

We scorn to wait for the thing worth having;
We want high noon at the day's dim dawn;
We find no pleasure in toiling and saving
As our forefathers did in the good times gone.

We force our roses before their season
To bloom and blossom that we may wear;
And then we wonder and ask the reason
Why perfect buds are so few and rare.

We crave the gain, but despise the getting;
We want wealth, not as reward, but dower;
And the strength that is wasted in useless fretting
Would sell a forest or build a tower.

To covet the prize, yet shrink from the winning;
To thirst for glory, yet fear the fight—
Why, what can it lead to at last but sinning,
To mental languor and moral blight?

Better the old slow way of striving,
And counting small gains when the year is done,
Than to use our forces all in contriving,
And to grasp for pleasures we have not won.
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox, in Woman's Journal

A BICYCLE CHASE.

BY MRS. M. L. RAYNE.

Milo Warren was making a call on a girl to whom he was fondly attached, although he had never told her so. But this was a case where actions speak louder than words, and—leave a girl alone for finding out if a young man regards her with favor. Every girl is clairvoyant where affairs of the heart are concerned.

They were talking about their birthdays, and the pleasant custom of giving presents at such a time.

"Let me see," said Milo, thoughtfully, "did you say your birthday came in September, Miss Nellie?"

"I didn't say," remarked Miss Nellie, demurely.

"Then it was December, wasn't it? Some lucky fellow will be giving you a diamond, perhaps!"

"Or a souvenir spoon," laughed Nellie; "you know they made jewel-spoons for birthday gifts, but all the girls changed their birthdays to December, and the young men could not stand the expense, and they sent a petition to the manufacturers, asking them to discontinue the custom, so no more spoons are in the market."

"I—I—I—really wish you would tell me when your natal day arrives. I might at least send you a bunch of roses, in remembrance of all the—the—happy days we have spent together. Is it this month, Miss Nellie?"

"You remind me of the parlor game: 'Is it this? Is it that?'" said Miss Nellie, and then fearing that the young man was becoming sentimental she turned the conversation to other subjects.

But the next day Milo Warren dropped casually into the store where Miss Nellie Newton's best brother was engaged as bookkeeper, and inquired solemnly at the grated window, which permitted a segment of his countenance to appear, if that young man would take lunch with him.

"Certainly," was the brusque reply from a mouth full of pens; "I'll meet thee at Philippi—I mean at Hunger & Co.'s—in an hour."

He was there, and at the pleasant spread of good things provided Milo Warren propounded this conundrum:

"If you like a girl awfully, but haven't told her so, and you think she maybe likes you awfully—no, I don't mean that—but if that girl has a birthday, and you want to make her a present, and she won't tell you when it is—the birthday, you know—oh, hang it all, I'm everlastingly mixed up. Can't you help a fellow out?"

Lyman Newton laid aside his knife and fork, and looking Milo in the face asked, seriously:

"Any insanity in your family, Milo?"

"None that I ever heard of outside of my own case," was the depressed answer.

"Reducing your heroics to a plain statement, then, you want to give a girl of your acquaintance a birthday present."

"Exactly."

"Is she an Old Woman?"

"What do you mean?" roared Warren, turning red. "I'll thank you to speak with respect of my freinds—besides I—"

"Oh, no harm done; don't get riled so easily. I wanted to know if she belonged to the past age or the present. I take it, then, that she's a New Woman?"

"I understand now. Yes, I believe she has advanced opinions, but she isn't one of those dreadful creatures that advocate the wearing of bloomers. Nellie is the soul of womanly modesty, and—"

"Nellie? Do I know this bright particular star?"

"Why, of course you do—I quite forgot—she's your own sister!"

"Well, I like that! And you want to make her a birthday present and don't know the day. Sorry, old fellow, but I can't help you out. Nellie would take my head off if I told."

That ended the lunch, but an unforeseen thing happened. Just as Milo Warren left his company at the corner he saw an urchin he knew. It was the infliction known as Nellie's youngest brother, age seven, capacity for mischief seven times seven, precocity unlimited by any period of time.

Milo, with malice prepense, engaged the dear child in a surfeit of sweets, and then asked, as if the idea was not of the least consequence and had just occurred to him:

"When does Sister Nellie have a birthday?"

The dear child looked at him for a moment, drew his mouth round under his ear, elevated both eyebrows, and said, in a confiding, infantile voice:

"What'll yer give ter know?"

Advantageous terms being made, the boy puckered his mouth for a whistle, thought better of it and gave the following Saturday as his sister's birthday.

"An' if yer want to make yourself solid—see—just send her a real stunner of a bike."

"What! A bicycle? Does she ride?"

"How kin she? I reckon she kin learn, mister. You just send that bike—there ain't nothin' Nell wants wuss nor that."

With this advice, and being sworn to secrecy, the small terror bowled himself off.

It gave Milo Warren something to do to purchase that bicycle and have it delivered to Miss Nellie on her birthday in an anonymous manner. He expected it back every hour for about a week, but it did not come, and he felt safe. The small brother had not betrayed him after all.

But after a little he began to wish he had, for Miss Nellie had evidently mounted that bicycle and ridden out of his life. He called, but she was out on her bicycle, no matter what the hour was, noon or night, and he got himself run over on the street and knocked down daily by dashing out from sidewalk corners to see who the rider was, and getting hurt for his pains. When he could stand it no longer he came to a sudden resolve—he would buy a bicycle for himself, and perhaps be able to find Nellie.

And now began an exciting chase for life and liberty, for at one moment the amateur bicyclist was under the feet of a trampling horse, the next he was running over a wrathy pedestrian, and he usually ended his experiences by picking up his frisky steed and carrying it to the shop for repairs.

And all this time he never caught a glimpse of Nellie, but he was inclined to think he divined the cause. Judging from his own experience in learning to ride a bicycle, Nellie might be exercising her own fractious acquisition on some remote roadway outside the city limits—or, dreadful thought, might even be laid up herself for repairs. He called on the bookkeeper brother, but found him busy and noncommittal. So he waited and tried to possess his soul with patience, and learn to ride a bicycle without the zigzag motion that had endangered the lives of the populace and nearly caused his arrest by the police.

Then he made the discovery that if he gave his wheel its head, it would behave much better than when he guided it carefully, to the end that it traversed both sides of the street at once. After acting like a thing possessed it learned to behave, and he found himself skimming along like a bird on the wing, with an exultant sense of freedom and delight, and he longed to see Nellie and tell her what he had been trying to say for months—that he loved her.

And at that moment there whizzed past him a vision in bloomers, one of those dreadful new women of whom he had heard, and now was to see. He almost felt that it was disloyalty to gentle little Nellie to even look at such an apparition; but somehow she looked so quaint in her saucy jacket and baggy trousers, her neatly gaitered feet were so pert and independent, that Milo looked and looked again, then he gave a great whoop, and took after the flying wheel like a streak of lightning.

His confidence stood him instead of skill. He went spinning along in fine style until he reached a parallel with the girl with bloomers, then he leaned over to speak to her, toppled and fell in a heap, but not before he had gasped: "Nellie!"

That young lady skillfully eluded the wreck, made a fancy run and turn, and as Milo gathered himself up, said, pleasantly:

"Why, Mr. Warren, I didn't know that you rode a wheel."

"I don't," said the young man, ruefully, feeling of his elbow to determine whether it was dislocated or merely abraded, "but you, Miss Nellie, are quite an expert."

Miss Nellie murmured something about the wheel being a present from her brother, and that she had not cared to ride, but did just to please him.

"But you ought to see my little brother ride," she said, with enthusiasm; "he rides the wheel when I am not using it, and he makes it spin. Why, he rides standing up, and I'm so afraid something will happen to him."

Milo was walking along, leading his wheel, as if he preferred that way, and Miss Nellie gave him several exhibitions of her skill, and each moment made a stronger and more lasting impression on the poor fellow's heart. But even bicycle courtship comes to an end, and they were at Nellie's home, and he must leave her, unless—he asked for a glass of water, and before it was brought he sat down with the wheel on the sidewalk.

It was a sudden and most effective stroke of art. Nellie cried and asked if he was killed anywhere; Mrs. Newton brought camphor; they got him into the house, and then he was able to speak, and said what was true enough—that he had lost his head for a moment.

The two most expert cyclists on the avenue are Milo and Nellie. You will recognize her by her brown bloomer suit, which is much admired, and he by the glad smile which mantles his expressive countenance. Nellie knows now who gave her the wheel, and Milo has had another example of the total depravity of the small brother. Nellie's birthday comes in January, but to expedite matters the imp changed it to July. However, all's well that ends well.—Detroit Free Press.

Rhode Island Peculiarities.

It is not necessary to go to the far south or west, says the Boston Budget, to find provincial customs or hear peculiar dialect. There are some very primitive people not further off than the Rhode Island border of Connecticut. In this thin line of little villages the grave-faced men and women still live as simply and take life as seriously as a Massachusetts Puritan. They solemnly make two strangers known to each other by "Mr. Smith, here's Mr. Brown to you." "Mr. Brown, here's Mr. Smith at you." They confess to an interrupted state of good health by saying they "Feel mauga the day;" to a contrary state of well being by: "I am feeling kidge the day." The Saunterer finds mauga good Shakespeare, but "kidge" is as yet beyond him.

Medical Infallibility.

Dr. A—— claims to be an adept in the art of diagnosis. On being called to see a lady, directly he had been admitted he remarked, with a knowing smile:

"I see what your complaint is. You are suffering from a disordered stomach and nervous spasms."

"Sir!"

"Let me finish; your temperament is somewhat exacting—"

Here the lady interrupted him: "Why, it is not myself who is ill; it is my uncle."

The doctor, quite unabashed: "I suspected as much!"—Le Nain Jaune.

INTELLIGENCE OF HORSES.

Many Are of the Opinion That a Horse May Weep.

Do horses weep? is a question discussed by the Admiralty and Horse Guards Gazette. It tells us that there is a well-authenticated case of a horse weeping during the Crimean war. On the advance to the heights of Alma, a battery of artillery became exposed to the fire of a concealed Russian battery, and in the course of a few minutes it was nearly destroyed, men and horses killed and wounded, guns dismounted and limbers broken; a solitary horse, which had apparently escaped unhurt, was observed standing with fixed gaze upon an object close beside him; this turned out to be his late master, quite dead. The poor animal, when a trooper was dispatched to recover him, was found with copious tears flowing from his eyes; and it was only by main force that he could be dragged away from the spot, and his unearthly cries to get back to his master were heartrending. Apropos of the intense love that cavalry horses have for music, a correspondent of the Gazette writes that when the Sixth dragoons recently changed their quarters a mare belonging to one of the troopers was taken so ill as to be unable to proceed on the journey the following morning. Two days later another detachment of the same regiment, accompanied by the band, arrived. The sick mare was in a loose box, and, making her way through the shop of a tradesman, took her place in the troop before she was secured and brought back to the stable. But the excitement had proved too great, and the subsequent exhaustion proved fatal.

HONOR AS COLLATERAL.

A Loan Scheme Which Proved a Flat Failure.

Loans without security are a bait which usurers often hold out to the unwary, says the London Daily Telegraph, but a certain Lacour thought it might be made still more tempting by advertising that people could pledge their honor for a substantial monetary advance. Honor is inexhaustible, especially when it can be turned into hard cash, so the scheme bade fair to succeed. But on the face of it as a commercial speculation it was a poor investment. Its philanthropy was its chief recommendation, and therefore its author, a chemist's assistant formerly, with two companions, felt emboldened to imitate Mme. Eugenie Buffet, and sing in the streets to invite the charitable public to contribute to the New Students' Friendly society, as they called their philanthropic loan office. The trio selected the Normandy coast resorts for their tour, and duly advertised their philanthropic motives in the local press. But unfortunately M. Lacour preached without practicing. He had himself contracted a number of little debts on the strength of his honor, and his creditors were not quite satisfied with the value of that security, and when recently he borrowed from a friend a bicycle, which he at once handed over to a cafe keeper who was dunning him for money, the bicyclist took an unkind view of the transaction, and lodged a complaint with the police, with the result that the latter-day philanthropist was placed in safe custody to meditate upon the worthlessness of honor in worldly transactions.

MODIFICATIONS OF SHEEP.

An Animal That Would Not Survive Man's Extinction.

The sheep has undergone more modifications at the hands of man than any other animal. All the rest of our domestic animals have proved their capacity to reassume the habits of their wild ancestors, but no once tamed sheep has taken to a life of independence. This, writes Dr. Louis Robinson in North American Review, is at first surprising, because many kinds, such as the Scotch mountain sheep, and those upon the high lands of Chili and Patagonia, manage to live and thrive with very little aid from their masters. Yet it is found that even the hardy pampas sheep cannot hold his own when that aid is wanting. If man were to become extinct in South America, the sheep would not survive him half a dozen years. There are three chief reasons for this, and all of them are of peculiar interest.

In the first place, the sheep is, as a rule, a timid and defenseless animal, and at the same time is neither swift nor cunning. It falls an easy prey to the meanest of the wolf tribe. A single coyote or a fox terrier dog could destroy a thousand in a few days. Then it is found that the young lambs and their mothers require especial care and nursing. If they do not get it at the critical time, the flock owner will lose them by the hundred. It is a common thing in the Southdowns for the shepherd not to leave his flock day or night during the whole lambing season. Lastly, scarcely any modern sheep shed their wool naturally, in the same way that the horse sheds its thick winter coat.

NEVER GROW OLD.

Parts of the Physical System Which Never Wear Out.

In his work on the senile heart Dr. Balfour tells us that there are two parts of the human organism which, if wisely used, "largely escape senile failure." These two, says the Medical Record, are the brain and the heart. Persons who think have often wondered why brain workers, great statesmen and others, should continue to work with almost unimpaired mental activity and energy up to a period when most of the organs and functions of the body are in a condition of advanced senile decay. There is a physiological reason for this, and Dr. Balfour tells us what it is. The normal brain, he affirms, "remains vigorous to the last," and that "because its nutrition is especially provided for." About middle life, or a little later, the general arteries of the body begin to lose their elasticity and to slowly but surely dilate. They become, therefore, much less efficient carriers of the nutriment blood to the capillary areas. But this is not the case with the internal carotids, which supply the capillary areas of the brain. On the contrary, these large vessels, "continue to retain their pristine elasticity, so that the blood pressure remains normally higher than within the capillary area of any other organ in the body. The cerebral blood paths being thus kept open, the brain tissue is kept better nourished than the other tissues of the body."

CHARACTER OF ISABELLA.

The Beautiful Consort of Ferdinand Who Helped Columbus.

Isabella was a lady, she was a queen, and, above all she was an autocrat. Gracious and gentle in her manner, says R. Ulick Burke's "A History of Spain," she brooked no opposition from prince or peer, and she soon made it known and felt throughout Spain that, although she was the daughter of John II. and the sister of Henry IV., her will was law in Castile. Beautiful, virtuous, discreet, with that highest expression of proud dignity that is seen in a peculiar simplicity of manner, with a hard heart and a fair coutenance, an inflexible will, and a mild manner—something of a formalist, more of a bigot—Isabella united much that was characteristic of old Castile with not a little that was characteristic of new Spain. And if her boldness was inherited from the Cid, her bigotry was bequeathed to Philip II.

No man can read the history of the times without being struck by the enormous personal influence of Isabella. An accomplished horsewoman, a tireless traveler, indefatigable in her attention to business of state, the queen with her court moved about from place to place, swift to punish crime and to encourage virtue, boldly composing the differences and compelling the submission of rival nobles, frowning upon the laxity of the clergy, denouncing the heresy of the people and laying a heavy hand upon enemies of every degree and evildoers of every class. In Andalusia the unaccustomed and unexpected presence of the sovereign was everywhere productive of peace and order. Even in the remotest districts of Galicia the royal power was felt. Over fifty fortresses, the stronghold of knightly robbers, were razed to the ground, and one thousand five hundred noble highwaymen were forced to fly the kingdom.

COTTON MILLS IN JAPAN.

The Industry Has Grown Rapidly in the Mikado's Realm.

Cotton manufacturing in Japan is the growth of the last fifteen years. Not a cotton mill, with one exception, of those now in operation was in operation prior to 1880, says the Industrial Record. There is now running in Kagoshima a mill of 3,030 spindles that has been in operation since 1865. In 1880 and 1881 an era of cotton manufacturing was inaugurated by the erection of 14,000 to 15,000 spindle mills. In 1882 a 61,200-spindle mill was put up at Osaka. The mill is the largest ever erected in Japan. There are two 30,000-spindles, one at Tokio and the other at Osaka. The latter location is the principal manufacturing center in the empire. Nearly, if not fully, one-half of the cotton spindles are to be found there. The cotton mills at Osaka are reported as paying average annual dividends of 18 per cent., the highest having been 28 per cent. and the lowest 8 per cent. Not more than about ten years ago the people depended almost wholly upon foreign products of factory-made cotton fabrics, while now not over a fourth of this demand comes from foreign sources. The Cotton Spinners' association of Japan is the most reliable source of information, and that placed the number of spindles in 1894 at 385,265, yet the Yokohama chamber of commerce placed the number in 1893 at about 600,000. Between these two authorities we put our estimate of 500,000 spindles. The cotton mills of Japan will never be able to spin from the native cotton very fine yarn. The cotton is not suitable for anything but for the spinning of coarse yarns.

FOUND IN FOREIGN LANDS.

LONDON has an area of 121 square miles.

GERMANY has now an English paper published at Frankfort-am-Main called the English Mail.

WORK has been provided for the unemployed for the last five years in forty-nine large towns in France.

SWITZERLAND grants one divorce to every twenty-two marriages as compared with one to 132 in Holland, and one to 577 in England.

TRUNK wires to connect London by telephone with Edinburgh, Glasgow and Dublin have just been erected by the British post office.

A PUBLIC bath-house has just been opened at Turin, where a hot and cold bath, in a private room, can be had for three cents, from 5 a. m. to 8 p. m.

DIVORCES have been legal in France for the past eight years. In the first year 1,700 were granted; in the second, 4,000; in 1894, 8,000. The total for eight years was over 40,000.

BERLIN is going to celebrate the hundredth anniversary of the system of numbering houses, which began there in 1795. Vienna followed in 1803 and Paris in 1805.

THE healthiest spot in the world appears to be a little hamlet in France, named Aumone. There are only forty inhabitants, twenty-three of whom are eighty years of age and one is over one hundred.

WALNUT shells are in demand in London for the purpose of adulterating ground cinnamon, and bring more than whole walnuts. The powdered shells are not distinguishable unless the microscopic examination is an unusually careful one.

GATHERED FROM THE RAILS.

THE average life of a locomotive is 15 years, and its earning capacity $300,000.

THE Baltimore & Ohio is the oldest chartered railroad in America, and the oldest passenger railroad in the world.

FIVE saloons in Chicago, near the Nickel Plate shops, have gone out of business since the order went into effect forbidding employes to visit such places.

IT is reported that two members of the Colorado legislature have been detected in renting their annual passes over the Denver & Rio Grande railway at $15 a month.

A DIVIDEND of 15½ per cent. was paid last year by the French Nord railroad, probably the most profitable railroad in Europe. Its net revenue for 1894 was $18,856,265 on an outlay of capital of $302,804,540. It works 2,311⅝ miles of road.

REFERRING to the restaurant plan on dining cars in place of the method of charging a fixed price for a meal, General Passenger Agent D. G. Edwards, of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, is quoted as saying that the change is saving that road and the Monon $200 a month.

A TRICKY MEMORY.

A Keen-Minded Man Whose Recollection Was at Fault.

It would afford material for an entire paper to study defects of memory and to describe some of the curiosities of thinking which result from such defects. A writer in Popular Science Monthly says that he saw lately a business man of keen mind and good general memory, who was not paralyzed in any way and was perfectly able to understand and talk, but who had suddenly lost part of his power of reading and of mathematical calculation.

The letters d, g, q, x and y, though seen perfectly, were no longer recognized and conveyed no more idea to him than Chinese characters would to us. He had great difficulty in reading—had to spell out all words and could not read words containing three letters.

He could write the letters which he could read, but could not write the five letters mentioned. He could read and write some numbers, but 6, 7 and 8 had been lost to him, and when asked to write them his only result, after many attempts, was to begin to write the words six, seven or eight, not being able to finish these, as the first and last contained letters—x and g—which he did not know.

He could not add 7 and 5 together or any two numbers of which 6, 7 or 8 formed a part, for he could not call them to his mind. Other numbers he knew well. He could no longer tell time by the watch.

For a week after the onset of the disease he did not recognize his surroundings. On going out for the first time the streets of the city no longer seemed familiar; on coming back he did not know his own house. After a few weeks, however, all his memories had returned excepting those of the letters and figures named. But as the loss of these put a stop to his reading and to all his business life the small defect of memory was to him a serious thing.

Experience has shown that such a defect is due to a small area of disease in one part of the brain. Such cases are not uncommon and illustrate the separateness of our various memories and their dependence upon a sound brain.

FUTURE OF THE HORSE.

Uses to Which the Animal Will Always Be Turned.

When railroads were first put in operation it was predicted that there would be a great fall in the value of horses, a deterioration of horse flesh, and finally that the animals would soon become curiosities on the way towards extinction. Of course, says the Boston Transcript, everybody knows that nothing of the kind happened. Horses increased in number, value and quality. The business the railroads developed all along their lines occasioned a demand for more and better horses. Just at present the popularity of tne bicycle and the application of electricity to transportation are causing some people to repeat the predictions of fifty years ago concerning the horse. It is even said that the horse in the near future will be raised simply for slaughter for food. If the horse could learn of this prediction his intelligence and his sense of his value would prevent him from taking it seriously. He might ask: What good is the electric car off the rails? How does a bicycle act on plowed ground, and what can it draw without the assistance of human energy? If horses become very cheap will not more people buy them, and will not the aggregate of individual wants occasion a great demand that will send up prices? The intelligent horse asking these questions could well afford to munch his oats calmly while the alarmists were cogitating as to what reply was possible.

ENORMOUS HEAT.

A Figure Which Demonstrates the Power of the Sun.

There is not more than one person in each ten thousand who has anything like the correct idea what an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and two hundred thousand in length would look like. It is also true, says the St. Louis Republic, that there is no necessity for one being provided with a mind that would enable him to form a correct conception of such a gigantic cylinder of ice, for there is no probability that anyone will ever live to see an icicle even half so large, yet it is interesting to know that Sir John Herschel, the great astronomer, used such an illustration in one of his articles on the intensity of the sun's heat. After giving the diameter of the great blazing orb, and a calculation on the amount of heat radiated by each square foot of its immense surface, he closed by saying that if it were possible for an icicle forty-five miles in diameter and two hundred thousand miles long to plunge into the sun's great burning sea of gas it would be melted away and utterly consumed even to its vapor, in less than one second of time. Such an icicle would contain more ice than has formed on the rivers and lakes of the United States during the past one hundred years; its base would cover the average Missouri country and its length would be almost sufficient to reach to the moon.

FOREIGNERS IN AMERICA.

THE western states, considered as a whole, have twenty-two per cent. of foreigners among their population.

OF the potential voting strength of this country 12,000,000 are of native and 4,000,000 of foreign birth.

PENNSYLVANIA and Illinois have from fifteen to twenty-five foreigners to each square mile of area.

OVER ninety-six per cent. of the immigrants who come to this country settle in the north, west and northwest.

THE percentage of foreign to native population in 1850 was nine per cent.; in 1890 it had increased to fourteen per cent.

Not as English as He Was.

He regarded himself as very English, and he certainly was very young. He fancied that he cut a very imposing figure as he sauntered past the theater just as the matinee girls emerged on the street. But a large, coarse man who was going by spoiled it all by remarking in a loud voice: "Hello, Willie! What are you going to do with that pipe? Going to blow soap bubbles?" And now there is one young man who will never again smoke a pipe on the street.

WORK OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

Every Year the Father of Waters Carries Down a Square Mile of Land.

The Mississippi has in the course of ages transported from the mountains and high land within its drainage area sufficient material to make 400,000 square miles of new land by filling up an estuary which extended from its original outfall to the Gulf of Mexico for a length of 500 miles, and in width from 30 to 40 miles. This river, says Longman's Magazine, is still pouring solid matter into the gulf, where it is spread out in a fan-like shape over a coast line of 150 miles, and is filling up at the rate of 362,000,000 tons a year, or six times as much soil as was removed in the construction of the Manchester ship canal, and sufficient to make a square mile of new land, allowing for it having to fill up the gulf to a depth of 80 yards.

Some idea of the vastness of this operation may be conceived when the fact is considered that some of this soil has to be transported more than 5,000 miles; and that if the whole of it had to be carried on boats at the lowest rate at which heavy material is carried on the inland waters of America, or, say, for one-tenth of a penny per ton per mile over an average of half the total distance, the cost would be no less a sum than £238,000,000 a year. Through the vast delta thus formed the river winds its way, twisting and turning by innumerable bends until it extends its length to nearly 1,200 miles, or more than double the point-to-point length of the delta, continually eroding the banks in one place and building up land in another, occasionally breaking its way across a narrow neck which lies between the two extremeties and filling up the old channel.

PEN AND INK DRAWING.

Modern Imitation of the Ancients by a New Process.

It is easy, of course, to understand how pen drawing should have come to be so largely employed and elaborated. It is a matter of reproduction for illustration. An etching will not print with type, nor with a steel engraving. This, says the London Spectator, led in the early part of the century to the imitation of steel engravings by wood engravers, who did the business most skillfully with immense labor. The drawings for them were mostly made in pencil. But photographic process rendered the intervention of the wood engraver needless, if the artist made a pen drawing that would photograph and process well. A pure technical difficulty can be overcome by large numbers of craftsmen; large numbers, accordingly, have learned to make pen drawings to supplant wood engravings. But it should be noted that to do this is itself a kind of reproductive process. Few elaborate pen drawings are made without a studious foundation in some other material. The pen line must frequently be traced or drawn over the pencil line, very much like the engraver's tool.

The point about the moderns and ancients, then, resolves itself into the imitation by the moderns in a new medium of the technique of an old. It is certain that the ancients could have performed this feat if they had chosen, not altogether certain that they would have chosen. For, to consider those other points of reproduction and dissemination, the modern master seems to be in no greater hurry than the ancient to make use of the new facilities. When such a master does take up the pen, he handles it to much grander effect than do its devotees.

BOY AND ROBIN.

Friendship of the Two Brought About by Cold Weather.

During the extremely severe weather of February, 1895, myriads of birds perished from cold and starvation, both in Europe and the United States. In England this destruction was the more sorrowful, perhaps, as the country where the birds winter is more thickly settled than with us, and there were more to see their sufferings. But occasionally the British birds found friendly shelter.

The London Times published, during the cold weather, this note from Rodolph Walther, a boy of twelve years, who lives at Tunbridge Wells:

"I thought perhaps you would allow a schoolboy to tell you how very tame and fearless the cold and hunger have made the wild birds around our house.

"Of course we feed them with bread and all sorts of odds and ends, and the ground is simply black with our hungry visitors. Even the suspicious rooks come quite close to the house for their share.

"A little blue-tit passes its day in our basement, heedless of sleepy pussy baking herself before the stove.

"Most of all I wish to tell you about my strange bedroom companion, a little robin, which has taken up its residence in my bedroom; and though I leave the window open, he never goes out except to take a short fly. We pass the night together, and he makes his bed in one of my football boots.

"The other morning he woke me up by singing on a chair at the side of my bed. I suppose he thought I ought to be at my lessons."

The Bedbug in English Law.

Whereas the presence of bedbugs is regarded by the English courts as constituting an adequate ground for the breaking of the lease of a dwelling-house, the French tribunals

THE cry of non-partisanship in the common pleas judges' contests throughout the state is being raised by some Republican organs. They still cling to the idea of electing all of their six candidates for superior court judge. Theirs is certainly a one sided non-partisan scheme.

THERE are more than a million operatives who are not only receiving better wages than ever before, but are assured of work every working day in the year, who can be relied upon by the farmers and other producers to stand with them in the great coming battle between prosperity and McKinleyism.

THE total area of the public lands in the United States, exclusive of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, which have but small and isolate tracts, is in round numbers 600,000,000 acres. The surveyed lands are 314,000,000 acres, and the unsurveyed 286,000,000 acres. There is room here for a great many farms, but the best of the land has been taken up, especially that of any future speculative quality. It is a sign of the times that a quiet drift is setting in from the west to the south, where there is plenty of cheap and fertile land.

SOME of the ultra Protectionist organs have reached the conclusion that the tariff cuts no figure in the campaign. They were never more mistaken in their lives. The Wilson tariff measure is very much in evidence this year. The noise and bustle of increased industry are heard on every hand, and the benefit of increased wages is being felt too well to give the voters any chance to lose sight of the wise administration of the Democracy. The people were hasty last year. Their eyes are open, and they are now able to sift the wheat from the chaff and will not be fooled longer by empty assertions and impossible prophecies. With the facts before them, they cannot fail to see the justice of supporting the Democratic ticket in its entirety.

THE question as to how many candidates for judges of the superior court each elector is entitled to vote for, now rests with the Dauphin county court. Attorney General McCormick presented a petition to the court at Harrisburg on Wednesday morning for a mandamus on Secretary of the Commonwealth Reeder to direct him to arrange the official ballot so as to give each voter the privilege to vote for seven candidates. He said the question is of such grave importance, and is the subject of such conflicting opinions among eminent counsel and judges, that he deemed it of the utmost importance to have it determined before the expiration of the time for sending out the ballots. M. E. Olmsted, of Harrisburg, argued in favor of voting for seven candidates. Ex Deputy Attorney General Stranahan, acting for Secretary Reeder, offered opposing argument. The court took the papers and stated that it would make a speedy decision.

ONE solitary hair seems a very small thing, but, says the New York World, it is the most important part of an important machine in the capitol at Washington. The machine warms and ventilates the house, the senate and the various committee rooms, and runs several electric dynamos. Its most curious feature is the appliance for telling the proper temperature of the air in the building. A dial arranged like a clock marks different degrees from 0 to 100; 0 means perfectly dry air, 100 saturated air, i. e., air carrying all the moisture it will hold.

Human hair absorbs moisture like a rope, becoming shorter when it is wet, in the same way. The hair here is six inches long. The difference in length between it when wet and when dry stands for the 100 degrees of moisture on the dial, and as the moisture of the hair varies the pointer on the dial moves. According to the necessity more steam is thrown in or steam is allowed to escape, the atmosphere being in this way regulated and kept at a healthy point.

ONE of the effects of free trade in wool, says the Philadelphia Record, is witnessed in the exportation of considerable quantities of the American clip. Under McKinleyism American manufacturers could not import the best varieties of foreign wool, while American wool was kept out of foreign markets. But now there is no doubt that foreign manufacturers will become acquainted with the good qualities of many varieties of American wool. At the same time, American manufacturers will continue under free trade to import the finest foreign fleeces. Should the wool duties be restored they will stop importing all but the coarsest class, and a large part of their manufacturing will stop with it. It is a significant fact that the manufacturers are not asking for a revival of the wool duties. After a while they will summon up sufficient resolution to protest against a policy which threatens so much detriment to their interests.

DURING a recent interview General Miles, the new commander in chief of the United States army, was asked what he thought would be the next advance in army matters. He replied:

"If will probably be in the line of transportation of men and equipment. The bicycle and the horseless vehicle will have much to do with the wars of the future. Put an army on bicycles and their opponents would be at their mercy if not similarly equipped. The bicycle troops could feed off the supplies of the enemy's country. They could move so rapidly that the others could not catch them. They could choose their own positions and fly from one point to another at a few hours' notice. They could forestall supplies and have every position of advantage, both in attacking and retreating. Take the horseless carriage. The French have shown that some such vehicle will go at the rate of 16 miles an hour and at the same time carry four persons. They had a comparative race for such vehicles from Paris to Bordeaux and return, a distance of 750 miles, and the average speed was 16 miles per hour. The different motive powers used were steam, electricity, naptha and petroleum. Petroleum came out ahead, and the amount used was very small, a single gallon carrying a small carriage over 100 miles travel. There is no doubt that such vehicles can be utilized in place of horses. I am glad of it. The horse has been the slave of mankind for thousands of years, and it is time that he should have a rest."

THIS year $95,000 will be expended on the State Department of Agriculture, It will be for the farmer to judge whether he is getting such an adequate return for such an enormous draught on the public funds. He will certainly acknowledge that his taxes are no lighter. What does he say to a salary of $7,000 for the secretary, and $6,000 for the deputy secretary? The economic zoologist is certainly a very expensive official at $5,000 a year. The commissioner of forestry, the dairy and food commissioner and the state veterinarian don't have to worry about crops and rain and blight and interest on mortgages with $5,000 salary each per year. The chief clerkship is an enviable job at $3,200, while the clerks to the economic zoologist and the commissioner of forestry live high at $3,000 each a year. The officials of the agricultural department travel in state and luxury at a cost of $10,000 a year while the expenses of the dairy and food commissioners are expected to foot up $25,000 They have a stenographer in this department and he gets $1,600 a year, while the messenger worries along at $1,200. Of all this big expenditure, the farmer only catches a glimpse at the result of the appropriation of $15,000 for farmers' institutes. Farmers are you going to continue to keep such an expensive political party in power.

THE public grounds and buildings at Harrisburg must be kept in order, but the Republican party, always on the jump for the main chance, has used this department for the purpose of making a big raid on the public treasury. In 1893, the management, improvement and repairs to the public grounds and buildings cost only $32,342. In 1895 the expenditure is put down at $77,619, or an increase of $45,277. The present administration was very lavish in providing for this department. The superintendent must be a great favorite or an extraordinarily valuable man, as his salary was increased from $2,800 to $6,000. Then he was also supplied with a bookkeeper at $3,000, a mechanic at $1,800, a night watchman at $1,800, a gardner at $2,000, an assistant gardener at $1,800, a sergeant of police at $2,000, besides $1,800 worth of extra elevator men. An increase of $10,000 was made to keep the grounds in repair; a $6,000 contingent fund was created, while salary increases and improvised charges run the appropriation up to nearly $50,000 excess over two years ago.

Voter, are you willing to submit longer to the rule of a party, that spends public money in this profligate manner? Surely it can be stopped by voting the entire Democratic ticket this fall.

NATURALLY the Republicans claim that the Wilson tariff law is a failure because it does not provide revenue enough, and already the howl is started for a revision of the tariff when congress meets. This is inspired by the old trust and corporation syndicates who have been robbed of their monstrous profits through the operation of lower tariff rates. The Democrats will find a way of securing the government without resorting to the Republican method of taxing the poor man for the benefit of the rich. A little patience will reveal to all interested that the present administration knows what it's about. The bondholders are the only men who are alarmed at present.

The country has had enough of agitation, and the people don't want it revived by either party. It has had a most disastrous effect on trade and industry. Now that the agitation has ceased and the consequent business depression has disappeared, it would be reckless and ruinous to revive it. Industry is reviving, and better times coming. For heaven's sake let the tariff alone. Give the country a rest. Don't foment an agitation that can only have mischievous consequences.

Business men, manufactures and wage workers must all cry out against any further tariff tinkering.

THE South Carolina constitutional convention has adopted a section forbidding the granting of a divorce for any cause and not allowing recognition of divorces granted in other states.

FIVE masked and armed men held up an electric street car in the outskirts of Chicago and secured $200 from the passengers.

Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5th, 1895.—"Lots of senseless twaddle is being indulged in about Cuba, by men who ought to know better," remarked a gentleman prominently connected with the administration. "One might suppose from the contents of the newspapers that it was merely a question of sympathy as to the position maintained by the administration. As a matter of fact sympathy is not a factor. The government is controlled by international law and prudence. For this government to recognize the government which the Cuban revolutionists have established on paper, but which has as yet neither location nor habitation, would be equivalent to declaring war against Spain for the purpose of aiding Cuba to gain its independence, or to opening our treasury to demands for indemnity which Spain could and would make upon us if we kept our hands off and the revolt was put down. If we assumed the right to openly assist Cuba we should probably find ourselves involved in a war with more powerful opponents than Spain. When Cuba sets up and maintains an independent government, as did the Central American colonies of Spain, at the time the famous Monroe doctrine was promulgated, will be time enough for this government to recognize her independence. It is simply nonsense to talk of recognizing what does not exist, just because we sympathize with what is sought to be established. Governments cannot be run on that basis. England had much better grounds for recognizing the belligerency of the Southern Confederacy, which had armies, a navy and an established government, and yet an international court of arbitration made England pay dearly for that recognition, in the hard cash that went to pay the Alabama claims. Had the Southern Confederacy succeeded those claims would not have had to be paid."

Hon. D. T Murphy, Deputy Commissioner of Pensions, whose taking part in the Maryland campaign has knocked the last plank from the bottom of the silly lie about President Cleveland not wishing the Democratic party to carry that state this year, takes a very sensible view of that campaign. After expressing the opinion that the state would go Democratic, Mr. Murphy said: "I cannot understand how the disaffected Democrats can reconcile themselves to the position they have taken. They seem to think that if they let the Republicans win this year they can oust them next year. They cannot do any thing of the kind. A Republican victory this fall means that the state will be in the hands of that party for years If the regular Democracy is defeated this year does any one believe that next year the tail will wag the dog and the regulars, who are in a large majority, will go to work to help the bolters? It is hardly common sense to rely upon such a situation. No, sir; the Democrats if they want to control Maryland, must not let it go out of their grasp this year.

The attempt to start a Lincoln boom, by giving it out that Ex-President Harrison was in favor of the nomination of ex-Secretary Lincoln fell very flat in Washington. Mr. Lincoln is too well known here. His abilities were thoroughly sized up when he was secratary of war, and the verdict was unanimous that it was away below the presidential. "Had Bob Lincoln been a man of one tenth of the ability of his father, instead of the well dressed, well-fed, nonentity he is," said a Republican who has helped to make and unmake candidates for his party for more than a generation, "his name would long ago have made him the presidential candidate of his party."

Senator Blackburn came to Washington to attend the marriage of his daughter, Miss Lucille, to Mr. Thomas F. Lune, of N. J., which occurred Tuesday, but he returned to Kentucky the same night to resume his campaign. He said the Democrats were going to elect the state ticket and the legislature, and that his return to the senate was assured.

Secretary Carlisle told Ex-Representative of La., now collector of Customs at New Orleans, who called to see him in behalf of the sugar planters, that he could do nothing except to expedite a hearing of their claims for bounty by the court of claims, in accordance with the decision of the Comptroller, which he had no power to overrule. For some reason none of the claimants want to get before the court of Claims. While nobody seems to know just what will be done, it is probable that nothing will be done until after congress will act. M.

Two Girls Burned to Death.

Birmingham, Ala., October 7.—A horrible burning occurred at Woodlawn, near Birmingham, last night. The victims were Ellie and Addie, the 15 and 10-year-old daughters of W. H Evatt; Mr. Evatt himself and his son John, aged 17. The girls died this morning as the result of their terrible injuries. Mr. Evatt is in a bad condition and his son John is suffering torturing pains.

Evatt and his five children were gathered in the sitting room. One of the girls, who was reading, asked her brother John to move a kerosene lamp from the mantel piece to the table it exploded and in a second the dresses of the girls were in a blaze. They at once ran from the room in their agony to the porch, where the open air fanned the flames until they hissed above their heads.

The father and John Evatt did all they could to extinguish the flames and were terribly burned. The two girls died at the same hour this morning. A few months ago Mrs. Evatt died. Mr. Evatt will probably die, but the boy will recover.

Alleged Pension Crooks Arrested.

Lancaster, Pa., October 4.—Edwin Bookmyer and his son, Edwin H., pension agents, were arrested yesterday on complaint of Special Pension Examiner Jenks, and held for a hearing before Commissioner Montgomery for attempted fraud. It is alleged that they endeavored to secure a pension for one Frank Hart, who did not serve in the army, under the name of Francis Isaiah Hart, affirming that he is Isaiah Hart, a member of Company E. Thirty-second regiment, United States colored volunteers. Bookmyer, his son and daughter were arrested several months ago for pension irregularities, but were acquitted on trial.

Fatal Riot Among Boatmen.

Tonawanda, N. Y., October 8.—One man was killed and another badly wounded here in a riot among boatmen over the question of loading a boat at Scribner's dock. About 150 men were involved in the riot, and several pistol shots were fired. Captain Phillips, owner of the boats John Graft and May, was shot in the head as he stood upon his boat, and he died soon afterward. Phillips' son was struck on the head with a club and knocked insensible. It is believed his skull is fractured and death will ensue. Phillips tried to load his boat out of turn, and the other boatmen objected.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Crushed in the Abyss.

Lorain, O., October 6.—To-day was appointed for the laying of the corner stone of St. Mary's Catholic church. The foundation for the new building extended for about 10 feet above the basement bottom, and on this foundation was erected a rough platform, where the ceremonies were held, and where a vast part of the crowd had collected. It is thought that almost 2,000 people were standing on this rudely constructed floor, when a section of it containing about 300 people, sank beneath its burden and precipitated them into the pit beneath. The pit resembled an inverted roof of a very steep slant, the ends being closed up by stone walls, and into this death trap there were crowded men, women and children, in a struggling, screaming and fainting mass. Those at the top of the mass easily escaped, but when the pit was partly emptied these victims still entrapped could not clamber up the steep sides, and they trampled over each other in their efforts to escape like wild animals, the stronger ones getting on top, and the weak being crushed beneath the greater weight. Rosa McGee, a child three years of age, was killed and about forty severely injured, ten of whom it is supposed fatally, while a number with crushed limbs will suffer amputation.

Notwithstanding the great shock of the accident, the priests succeeded in quieting the crowd, and afterward continued the services of dedication. Very Rev. Monsignor Boff, of Cleveland, delivered the sermon. The statement was made to-night that the contractors are to blame for the accident, poor timbers having been used for the support of the platform.

New and Important Ruling.

Judge White, of Pittsburg, expressed a new idea last week with respect to the law of beneficial organizations, relating to the standing of members. The suits of Margaret Friar, widow of Thomas Friar, and Daniel Boyce, executor of Frank Boyce, against the national branch of the Emerald Beneficial association, actions to recover death benefits, were tried. The defense was that the persons on whose lives the benefits were said to be due were not in good standing according to the rules and by-laws of the association. In charging the jury Judge White said that in his judgment the words "good standing" referred more to the character of the member than his financial relations to the association. The jury returned verdicts of $300 in favor of the plaintiff in both cases. The case will go to the supreme court.

A Gold Craze in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., October 6.—A gold fever has started by the discovery of placer mines in Seward county, about 25 miles west of this city.

Three miles from Milford, a small pleasure resort on the Blue River, is an old gravel pit, out of which the Burlington Railway has for years been ballasting its tracks. This has been found to be rich in gold dust. Sand and gravel from several adjacent farms have given equally rich promises.

Many assays have been made, some by Denver assayers, and others by Professor Nicholson, of the State University in this city. In all of them the yield has been from $56 to $196 a ton.

There is great excitement in the vicinity of the reputed find. Land is multiplying in value and speculation is active.

Terrible Destitution and Misery.

Cleveland, October 8.—A few miles east of Cleveland Carl Longowitz has been living with his wife ane children in a filthy shed devoid of furniture. On Saturday their baby, 9 days old, died. The coroner yesterday found the family in a horrible condition. The body of the baby was covered with dirt and was a mere skeleton. The coroner believes death was caused by starvation. A week ago the neighbors took an 18-month-old boy away from the family, and are trying to save his life. He was on the verge of starvation. Longowitz had seven children. All are dead except the rescued boy, and the neighbors say all died as the baby did. Longowitz is in jail pending the coroner's inquest, having been arrested after a desperate fight with four officers.

Will Probably be a Murder.

John Meyers, a steel worker employed at the Edgar Thompson works, Braddock, and living at Turtle Creek, shot his wife in the back on Monday night, for interfering while he was punishing one of the children. She is thought to be mortally wounded. Myers then ran to the house of James Brandfit a neighbor, revolver in hand, and fired at him. The shot missed, and hatless and coatless, he ran to Port Perry, and from there to Braddock, where he was arrested. To Chief of Police George Bennett, he said: "I don't care a d—n if they do hang me. I don't care a d—n if I did kill her,, she tried to kill me." He claimed that his wife had two revolvers which she tried to use on him before he opened fire.

A Speech by Carlisle.

Washington, October 7.—Secretary Carlisle is preparing a speech which he proposes to deliver in Boston at the opening of the campaign there. It is understood that he will define the administration's policy in regard to finance and give some idea of the recommendations he will make in congress for the retirement of the greenbacks and the procuring of revenue.

That speech will in all probability be the keynote of the administration's campaign in the several states where there are elections this fall.

Secretary Carlisle will endavor to defend the course of the treasury and place matters that are now the subject of severe criticism in a better light.

Held up by a Lone Horseman.

Phœnix, Iriz., October 7.—The stage from Florence was held up by a lone Mexican horseman at the crossing of Dry Lake, eight miles west of Casa Grande station, on the Southern Pacific railroad. Through the bravery of A. J. Doran, president of the territorial legislative council, the only passenger, the highwaymen was all but captured. The robber was kicking around the mail matter, when Doran jumped upon him, grasping the pistol barrel just as the weapon was discharged. The stage driver started to Doran's assistance, but the robber tore loose from Doran, and, mounting a horse, rode rapidly away.

NEWS AND OTHER NOTINGS.

—After being closed five weeks, the First National bank of Franklin, O., will re-open.

A Storm at Sea

Increase the discomfort of the voyager. But even when the weather is not tempestuous he is liable to sea sickness. They who traverse the "gigantic wetness" should be provided with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which quiets disordered stomachs with gratifying speed and certainty. To the hurtful influence of a tropic, malarious or too rigorous or damp climate, as well as to the baneful effects of unwholesome diet and bad water, it a reliable antidote. Commercial travelers by sea or land, mariners, miners, western pioneers and all who have to encounter the vicissitudes of climate and temperature, concur in pronouncing it the best safeguard. It prevents rheumatism and pulmonary attacks in consequence of damp and cold, and it is and efficient defense against all forms or malaria. It can be depended upon in dyspepsia, liver and kidney trouble.

Hurt on a Saw Mill.

John Wagner, a young man who was employed on the steam saw mill of Isaac Michaels, at Twin Rocks, in Blacklick township, as an off-bearer, met with an accident on last Monday afternoon that will lay him up for some time if it does not cripple him for life.

While he was about taking some lumber off the carriage, the carriage in some manner was accidentally started back, carrying Wagner along towards the rapidly revolving saw. He realized his dangerous position and made every effort to get away but failed and the saw struck him on the hip, cutting a gash twelve or fourteen inches in length and deep into the flesh and bones.

It was done so quickly that his fellow workmen were powerless to render him any assistance until he fell off the carriage when he was picked up and tenderly cared for until the arrival of Drs. Davison and Jones, of this place, who were summoned by telphone and who dressed his wounds. It is believed that he will recover.

Laying the Corner Stone.

Next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock Rt. Rev. Bishop Phelan, of the Pittsburg diocese, will lay the cornerstone of the new St. John's Catholic church at Johnstown. After the blessing of the stone Rev. Father McCarthy, of the Order of Jesuits, of Baltimore, will deliver an appropriate sermon. The Newman League, of Johnstown, is preparing a box to be placed under the stone. It will contain a copy of each newspaper of Cambria county, the Pittsburg Catholic, some old coins, a paper containing the names of the present Pope, Cardinal Gibbons, the Archbishop, the Bishop, the local priests, President Cleveland, Governor Hastings, Sheriff Coulter, Mayor Boyd and others. A special train will be run from Altoona to Johnstown on Sunday afternoon for the accommodation of those who wish to attend. The Emerald Beneficial Associations at Altoona, Gallitzin, Lilly, Ehrenfeld, and other places will be present and will be entertained by Johnstown Branch No. 135, the members of which will serve lunch in their rooms on Main street on Sunday evening.

Flora Staniford Company.

Manager Buck has booked the Flora Staniford Company to give a performance of Miss Staniford's sparkling new comedy-drama, "A Soldier's Sweetheart," at the Ebensburg Opera House, Wednesday, October 16th. The company is very highly spoken of by the papers of New York state, where they have been playing for several weeks past, and a first-class performance can be expected. The play is a very pretty one, something new and novel, containing a splendid vein of love, pathos and patriotism, and bristling with pure, wholesome comedy. It is handsomely costumed and and staged, with unique specialties, and one of the best performances that will be seen in our town this season.

Snake Charmer Bitten.

M. D. Sculley, of Loyalsock, Lycoming county, is suffering from the poison of a rattlesnake. Mr. Sculley is a "snake charmer" and attended the fair at Lewisburg. The free and eash manner in which he handles the reptiles makes his spectators shudder. While caressing one of the rattlers, the reptile unexpectedly bit him on the cheek below the eye. The poison took immediate effect and the man was frothing at the mouth when the physician's office was reached. The necessary remedies were applied and he is reported as being out of danger.

Correspondence.

Pensacola, Oct. 7, 1895.

ED. FREEMAN:—In our theaters it is a common thing to see the cowardly villain with a gleaming dagger or deadly poison sneaking after an unsuspecting victim but it is a rare thing indeed in a civilized country and a christian community to find a being who is so devoid of all human feelings, and with so little fear of the judgment of Almighty God as convince us that such scenes exist in reality.

At the solicitation of my father-in-law, William Martz, I moved upon his farm here in Pensacola in the month of March last. I came an entire stranger to all, soliciting the good will of everyone. I did not know that I was infringing on the rights of anyone by coming on a farm which was owned wholly by the party who wished me to come, but it seems that there is a party here who is very spiteful toward me and mine. I bought a team in April last and in less than three weeks one of them was dead. Again in July one of my cows fell down and in less than three minutes was ready for hauling out. Our milk was drugged in the spring house until we were compelled to move it in the cellar and a considerable amount of butter was thrown away. I had a horse owned by Daniel Skelly, of Wilmore, and it was "doctored" while turned out in our sugar camp until it was impossible for it to work and I asked Mr. Skelly to take it home for fear it would finally be killed. I then, about the last of August, bought a horse, and just one week afterwards I turned both my horses in the field in front of my house, and in less than thirty minutes one of them was doubled up with a dose of some rank poison.

On Thursday morning of last week I again let my horses in a small field just below and in plain sight of the house and a short time afterward a being wearing the garb of a human person, with a face covered with hypocracy and deceit, and a heart filled with murder, came to the fence on the lower side of the field and laid through the fence an apple that had been cut hollow in the centre and filled with London purple for the express purpose of killing one of my horses, but caring little even if my little children should be murdered by picking it up and eating it, for they have been permitted to take apples about the place as they pleased, not thinking that there were neighbors who were so mean and low and so far removed from all feelings of humanity as to execute such a cowardly and dastardly deed. But whether it was luck or the will of the Supreme Being, my wife was suspicious and went out and discovered the dangerous thing before it had fulfilled its purpose.

But I now give fair warning to the parties concerned to keep off the place and let me see them no more prowling and sneaking about my house or barn after dark or they may be "sleeping where that long legged daughter is" as they have seen fit to call the late sister of my wife.

Railroad Wreck at Manor.

Mail Express west on the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked at Manor station, near Pittsburg, at 7:30 on Wednesday night, and one man was killed, several fatally and ten or fifteen seriously injuried.

The wreck occurred about 150 yards west of Manor while the train was running at the rate of 50 miles an hour. The second car from the rear jumped the track and rolled over on its side on the tracks of the Manor Valley railroad. John W. Miller, the conductor of a Pennsylvania railroad freight, No. 1156, which was sidetracked, was standing on one of the tracks waiting for Mail Express to pass. When the car of the latter left the rails it struck Miller and instantly killed him. John Baker, a mail carrier at Manor, who was also standing near by, was struck by the car and seriously but not fatally injured.

As quickly as possible after the wreck had occurred a train was made up and sixty or seventy passengers in the wrecked cars, including six or seven of the injured, were taken to Pittsburg. Three or four of the injured are in a precarious condition. Two are a man and wife, neither of whom will give their names. Eight doctors, with stretchers, arrived at Manor at 11:30 on a special train to attend the wounded.

Among the injured are H. Kunkle and Miss M. H. James, of Johnstown; H. J. Lape and J. B. Ruth, of Altoona, but none of them seriously. Among those those who escaped with little or no injuries were C. A. Callahan and family, of Braddock, who had been visiting Mrs. Callahan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson, in this place, and who left Ebensburg for their home on Wednesday afternoon.

Waylaid and Robbed.

About 2:30 on Tuesday afternoon an Arabian pack peddler named Imope Asema was waylaid and robbed on the Trout Run branch, near J. C. Martin's mine, about one and a half miles from Portage, by two Englishmen. One struck the peddler with a stone, while the other shot at him, the ball striking him on the back, between the shoulder blades, and taking a downward course. The assailants then proceeded to strip the Arabian of his pack and money, and immediately left for parts unknown. The wounded man, however, was able to call for assistance, and some of the miners came to his aid and Dr. George Glass was summoned from Portege, who made a hasty examination of the wounded man, and it was found that he had received a very painful flesh wound. It is not known fully at this writing whether the injuries inflicted by the highwaymen will prove fatal or not.

The wounded man says he has a brother living in Altoona at 3134 Eleventh street. No trace of the robbers has as yet been found.

DENTISTRY.

Do you know we are taking out teeth every day without one particle of pain? Well, we are doing this very thing with "Odontunder," the only local anaesthetic that has stood the test and to-day it is the only one that is used universally by dentists who are up to date in their calling.

The price for "Odontunder" when painless is 50 cents, but if you experience the least pain, we only charge you the usual price, 25 cents.

How about those teeth that need filling? Well, you say they don't ache. That's just the reason why you should have them filled now. After they have ached once you will probably have to have the nerve killed and the tooth treated if you are desirous of saving it. I only charge 50 cents for amalgum fillings and from $1.00 up for gold fillings. These are hard-time prices but they go just the same. Why procrastinate?—that's a big word but it's a good one right here because procrastination means to the patient loss of sleep, neuralgia, ear-ache, tooth-ache and goodness knows what else. We know of a good many young ladies of our acquaintance who would have been married long ago if it hadn't been for those horrid-looking teeth. Remember, to every patient having teeth filled I give a box of Dr. Richards' tooth powder and full instructions for the care of the teeth. On the 13th of each month I will extract teeth free of charge. You say why on the 13th. Well, now, that's my business. All you have to do is to come. Remember I won't take out your good teeth, because I don't believe in it. Then you say suppose the 13th falls on Sunday. Come right along and we will be only too glad to relieve you of the offending member.

COURT WILL DECIDE

How Many Superior Court Judges Can Be Voted For.

QUAY WROTE TO SECTY. REEDER.

He Asked Him to Disregard That Provision of the Act Forbidding Electors to Vote For More Than Six Candidates. The Secretary Refused.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 9.—The question as to how many candidates for judges of the superior court each qualified voter is entitled to vote for at the coming election will be submitted to the supreme court for decision. Senator Quay wrote to Secretary of the Commonwealth Reeder on Saturday, saying that he is advised that the provision of the act creating the superior court and forbidding each elector to vote for more than six candidates is contrary to the constitution, and that an election of superior court judges held upon this limited plan of voting would be invalid.

The senator requested Secretary Reeder to disregard this provision in making up the official ballot, and to prescribe such a form of ballot as will insure each elector the right of voting for seven candidates if he so desires. To this Secretary Reeder replied that it was not within his province to pass upon the constitutional question involved, and that he would have to prepare the ballot in accordance with the act.

Senator Quay instructed E. M. Olmstead of this city to make application to Attorney General McCormick to take such action as will result in a judicial decision of the question. At a conference between Governor Hastings and the members of the cabinet it was decided that the attorney general should proceed forthwith to ask the supreme court for a writ of mandamus to compel Secretary Reeder to prepare a form of ballot which will permit the voter to cast his ballot for seven candidates. It is hoped to have the question settled before the 22d instant, the date of certifying the form of official ballot by the secretary of the commonwealth.

CUBANS WANT RECOGNITION

They Will Ask For It When Congress Assembles.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Gonzales de Quesada, secretary of the Cuban revolutionary party, with headquarters in New York, has been in Washington on private business. He did not see Secretary Olney, nor were any steps taken toward securing the recognition of the Cuban insurgents as belligerents. Mr. Quesada had come on to attend the trial of the Cuban filibusterers at Wilmington and extended his trip to Washington to see friends.

The policy of the Cubans in seeking recognition of the United States has been outlined substantially as follows: No application will be made to the executive branch of the government until congress assembles.

A. R. U. Active In the South.

ATLANTA, Oct. 9.—It develops here that the American Railway union is making a quiet but vigorous campaign in the south. J. M. Weiter of Baltimore, is now in Atlanta and reports that he is making a tour of this section, organizing lodges of the American Railway union in many of the largest cities where there are a number of railroad employes. He says he is here by order of President Debs and expects to place the organization on a firm basis before he again returns north.

A Murderer Still at Large.

Large gangs of men are searching the Pike county woods for the murderer, but so far without success. It is believed that the crazed defendant has killed himself, for several hours after the shooting in Justice Newburger's office, shots were heard in the woods by some hunters.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Oct. 9.—A kind-hearted Presbyterian minister of this city was called on by a couple who said they wanted to be married. The pastor performed the ceremony. Before departing the young husband handed an envelope to the minister. Then with his bride he left the house. The minister was not a little astonished upon opening the envelope to find instead of a snug bank note a card upon which was written one word—"Thanks."

Fighting Over Their Beer.

MUNSTER, Pa., Oct. 9.—There has been a growing agitation here for some time past against the order issued to close the beer gardens and other similar places for obtaining refreshment at a much earlier hour than customary. The result is that a number of serious conflicts have taken place between the police and the inhabitants in the streets of this city.

Moyer, and which was contested by A. A. Shumway & Co., of Philadelphia, a creditor of Moyer.

DEATH OF GENERAL MAHONE.

He Succumbs to a Fatal Attack of Paralysis in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—General Mahone has finally succumbed to his fatal attack of paralysis and now lies dead in this city.

General Mahone was born in Virginia, Dec. 1, 1826. He was graduated from the Virginia Military institute, and engaged in civil engineering. When the war broke out he joined the Confederacy, raising the Sixth regiment, Virginia infantry. In March, 1864, he was made a brigadier general.

After the war he resumed his profession, but soon drifted into politics, and when the agitation arose for the readjustment of the debt which was oppressing the Old Dominion, General Mahone became leader of that faction of the Democratic party which was afterward called "Readjuster," which favored the partial repudiation of the state debt and its readjustment on lines which would enable the state to pay it. He formed a fusion with the Republicans of Virginia and in 1879 the Readjusters carried the state and General Mahone was elected upon the fusion ticket to the senate. He served in the senate until 1887, when he was defeated for re-election.

For his affiliation with the Republicans in the senate, General Mahone found himself practically ostracised in Virginia. Former friends greeted him coldly, and even the friends of his wife and daughter cut them on the street. This social and business boycott brought General Mahone to bankruptcy. Last winter he essayed to sell to the government a piece of land in Washington. Had he succeeded, his failing fortunes might have been retrieved. But the opposition met with at the hands of southern senators and representatives was so relentless that nothing could be done, and General Mahone, to save the rights of his creditors, made an assignment.

WELCOMED BY 50,000

The Liberty Bell Escorted to the Pennsylvania Building at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Oct. 9.—Never before was such homage paid to the old Liberty bell, or for that matter to any relic of any character in this country as was bestowed upon the revolutionary treasure on its arrival here. Fifty thousand people lined the railroad tracks from the city limits to the Union station. Every housetop, car, telegraph pole and bridge was a point of vantage for cheering spectators.

The official reception of the bell occurred at the exposition this morning. At 9 o'clock a parade escorted the bell from the depot. Military companies first marched past and saluted.

After them came the Liberty bell with an escort from the governor's horseguard. Then followed the special escort from Philadelphia, with the mayor and city council of Atlanta and the exposition board.

The line of march was out Peachtree street to Fourteenth street, where the procession was met by Gilmore's band and then proceeded to the exposition.

In front of the Pennsylvania building the bell stopped and was removed to one of the porches and the military was dismissed. An elaborate program them followed. "America" was sung by 2,000 school children.

GOV. MACCORKLE TALKS.

He Defends the Management of West Virginia Institutions.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 9.—Governor MacCorkle is out in an official interview defending the management of the state insane asylums. The governor says, concerning the Western asylum that "it is the best run institution of its kind in the country."

The governor says the complainants are soreheads, and he will not order an investigation. It is the Western asylum that twice during the last 60 days has had to pay for corpses sent out for burial, and returned unclaimed, because the western officials did not give the matter proper attention and notified wrong parties that their relations were dead.

Concerning the Spencer asylum, the governor admits that a sister of one of the directors has been appointed matron; the son of another, druggist; the brother-in-law of another, as attendant, that goods for the institution are bought at the store of another director, and that patients have been kicked and cuffed by attendants. He then says that he has ordered a public investigation on Oct. 25, but nothing of what is charged can be proved.

MRS. WALLER COMING.

She Will Arrive In New York Saturday to Settle In Iowa.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Waller, wife of ex-United States Consul General Waller, now imprisoned by the French government, will arrive in New York Saturday and steps are being taken to have her met by representatives of the state department. Her son, Paul Bray, will also go to meet her. She is accompanied by her young children, the family having made the long journey from Madagascar by way of Paris. Relief funds for her have been raised in Kansas, Iowa and Washington and these will be available for her support after the landing.

Thus far she has been helped homeward by private contributions, the state department aiding her from Madagascar to France and Ambassador Eustis advancing the funds for her trip to New York. Ethelbert Woodford, a young American in Madagascar, supplied her immediate needs until assistance was rendered by the state department. It is expected she will settle in Iowa.

LAWYERS GET BIG SLICES.

The Mora Claim to Be Paid Tomorrow. Mora Gets $700,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—It is expected that the state department, which is the custodian of the funds paid by Spain on the Mora claim, will pay the money to the different parties interested tomorrow. The amount finally agreed on for Antonio Maximo Mora, principal in the claim, is $885,085. This sum has been reduced somewhat by assignments, and the actual amount to be paid Mr. Mora will be slightly above $700,000.

The next payment of importance will be $287,000 to Dr. Jose I. Rodriguez, who has been the attorney of Mr. Mora since the inception of the case in 1870. A further amount, approximately $285,000, will be devoted to the payment of Mr. Nathaniel Page, who was at one time an attorney in the case, or to those to whom he may have assigned his interest.

TO FREE CHINESE WOMEN.

A Chinaman Gets Out Writs of Habeas Corpus at Atlanta.

ATLANTA, Oct. 9.—Writs of habeas corpus have been served upon Kee Owyang and Leon Lam, proprietors of the Chinese village on the Midway of the Atlanta exposition, commanding them to bring the bodies of nine Chinese women, charged by Lum Ling, an Atlanta laundryman, with being held in involuntary servitude.

Ling, who appears in the role of a philanthropist, says the women were bought in China and transported here against their will. The writ was taken out under the thirteenth amendment to the constitution. These are the Chinese concerning whose admission into the United States at Ogdensburg, N. Y., has caused so much trouble.

STILL AFTER STUART.

Culberson Hot on the Fight Promoter's Trail.

WARRANTS SERVED ON THE SPORTS

Brady and the Others Summoned to Testify Before the Austin Grand Jury. Arkansas' Governor Seems to Favor a Mill at Hot Springs.

DALLAS, Oct. 9.—It looks as if the glove contest affair has reached the war-to-the-knife stage so far as Governor Culberson and Attorney General Crane are concerned. Attachment papers have been received by Sheriff Cable from Austin and served on W. K. Wheelock, secretary of the Florida Athletic club, and W. A. Brady, manager of James J. Corbett. They will also be served on Martin Julian, manager of Bob Fitzsimmons, and Joe Vendig. These parties are summoned as witnesses before the Travis county grand jury.

Mr. Stuart's friends say that it is now clear that the governor and the attorney general are not so fiercely after prizefighters as they are after Dan Stuart, whom, for political reasons, they have determined to crush if there is sufficient power in their positions.

The friends of Mr. Stuart say that the very fact that Stuart is not summoned before the Travis county grand jury shows that his testimony is not desired, but rather testimony against him. They claim that the governor and attorney general have trumped up an old, musty law, which they hope to make serve their purpose. It is article 960, title 18, chapter 1, penal code of Texas, which provides, "A conspiracy entered into in this state for the purpose of committing a felony in any other of the states or territories of the United States or in any foreign territory shall be punished in the same manner as if the conspiracy so entered into was to commit the offense in this state."

The penalty for such conspiracy under the Texas criminal code is "Confinement in the penitentiary for no less than two nor more than five years."

The meeting to select and settle upon the battlefield has not yet picked out a place.

A Little Rock special says: "You can say that I would not convene the legislature in special session to stop it if they were to fight in the ring in a house yard." Governor Clarke used this language in conversation with your representative in reference to his probable action in the event that the Corbett-Fitzsimmons contest should be advertised to take place in Hot Springs. Said he: "It looks, though, as if they mean to bring it off at Hot Springs, sure enough. City Attorney Martin of Hot Springs is in Dallas negotiating with the managers of the affair, and this indicates beyond doubt that Hot Springs wants it, and they will very likely get it.

"My position in this regard is well known. You may say that I will do everything in my power to prevent the fight, that I will go as far as the law as it stands gives me authority and no farther.

"Personally I am opposed to pugilism. The legislature passed an act making prizefighting a felony. I was in the legislature at that time and voted for the bill. But the people were not satisfied with that law, for the very next session repealed it and enacted in its stead a law reducing the offense to a misdemeanor. That is the law now, and it will be enforced."

A New York special says: A dispatch has been received from London, saying: "Mirror of Life agrees to bring off Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, offers £3,000 and diamond belt valued at £1,000 to fight in England, the principals to select their own referees. One thousand pounds will be placed in the hands of Al Smith as a guarantee by Mirror of Life that the fight will take place."

A copy of this cablegram was telegraphed to both Corbett and Fitzsimmons, and an early answer from the pugilists is expected. It is said that the National Sporting club is behind the offer of Mirror of Life.

Melbourne, Australia, enters the list as a possible scene of the battle between Jim Corbett and Fitzsimmons. A cable from the Melbourne Evening News received here says that reliable people there have formed a syndicate and are prepared to offer a purse of $50,000, allowing the contestants to rearrange a date that suits their convenience. Information to this effect was wired to Dan Stuart, W. A. Brady and Martin Julian at Dallas, Tex.

THE DURRANT TRIAL.

Two Important Witnesses Give Testimony for the Defense.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—The most important witness in the Durrant case was Charles T. Lenahan, the young man whom the defense contends was mistaken for Durrant by Pawnbroker Oppenheim. Lenahan, who does not bear a striking resemblance to the prisoner, said on April 3 he attempted to pawn a small diamond ring, similar to the one worn by Blanche Lamont, at Oppenheim's shop. The witness said that he asked Oppenheim the same questions and received the same answers that Oppenheim quoted in relating the conversation he had with the young man whom Oppenheim testified was Durrant. Then came a surprise to the defense, which contracted nearly all of the strength gained from witness' testimony. Lenahan said he tried to pawn the ring in the afternoon, while Oppenheim testified that Durrant entered his shop in the morning.

W. A. Dukes, a student at Cooper Medical college, who was expected to give strong evidence for the prosecution, gave disappointing testimony.

Dukes said that Durrant asked him if he could remember that he attended Dr. Cheney's lecture on the afternoon of October 3, and to that end recalled a number of incidents said to have taken place at the time. Although Dukes' seat in the lecture room was next to Durrant, Dukes could not remember whether Durrant was there or not, and told him so. Dukes said it was untrue, as had been reported, that Durrant asked him as a favor today that he attended the lecture. On the contrary, Dukes said that Durrant told him he wished him to testify only to the facts as he remembered them.

In the case of Miss Carrie Cunningham, a newspaper reporter, who refused to disclose the source of certain information relative to the nature of Mrs. Leak's testimony, Judge Murphy ruled that the witness was right in refusing to answer the questions. Miss Cunningham was, therefore, not punished for contempt.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

New Orleans Makes a Bid For the Next Meeting—Business Transacted.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 9.—In the house of bishops of the Episcopal convention a favorable committee report was made on the proposals for the division of the dioceses of Maryland, Kentucky and California. A resolution separating the missionary jurisdiction of Wyoming and Idaho into two jurisdictions was referred.

A committee was named to report suitable action on the Armenian atrocities.

The house of deputies decided by 55 to 37 in favor of the term "Bishop Coadjutors" instead of "Assistant Bishops."

The reluctance of the house of deputies to alter the report of the constitutional revision commission appeared again when two committees reported against the proposed amendments. One advised against pluralizing the word constitution all through the documents and the other disapproved of the proposal to give dioceses under certain condition the right to cede parts of their territory and erect therein missionary jurisdictions. The latter proposition, introduced by Judge Fairbanks of Florida, will be pushed nevertheless.

The invitation of New Orleans for the next convention, presented by H. D. Forsythe, made the fourth one received.

CUBANS NEED OUR AID.

Palma Receives a Letter From a Rebel General.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION WANTED.

Cuba's Independence Is Near at Hand, If These Can Be Secured—Nothing With Which to Arm Recruits—An Earnest Appeal For Help.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—General Joseph Rodriquez of the Cuban army, in a letter to President Palma of the Junta, repeats the declaration that the revolutionists need only arms and ammunition to assure the triumph of their cause and earnestly pleads that the United States give them aid. Rodriquez, who is chief of staff for General Roloff, says: "We are completing the reorganization of the main body of our army in Los Villas. We have divided it into two divisions—one division under General Serafin Sanchez, the other under General Suarez. Each division is formed of two brigades, which are again subdivided, one into two columns of cavalry and one of infantry and the other in one of infantry and two of cavalry.

"Every day hundreds of young men from towns and villages flock to our ranks, but unfortunately we have no arms or ammunition for them, and though full of zeal and patriotism, they are unable to aid our cause. We want arms and ammunition badly and we hope that the United States will not forbid the shipping of arms as merchandise from its ports. Had we arms and ammunition, believe me, the war would not last very long and in a short time Cuba would achieve her independence. It is only a question of time in any case. Triumph is assured, but that triumph would dawn all the sooner if arms could be sent to us from the United States with the full permission of its government.

"Why should the United States restrict our movements or detain the hour of our freedom? The quicker the realization of our liberties the greater the advantage to the United States. Commercial intercourse between a free Cuba and the United States would be greatly augmented. Now it is narrowed by the selfishness of Spain. Apart from sympathetic reasons, the business aspect of the question should appeal most strongly to the government of the United States for recognition and satisfaction. Let the United States permit our friends under its flag to ship us arms and ammunition, and before you realize it there will be another free republic in America."

CLEVELAND GETS THE CUP.

The Baltimores Knocked Out by the Spide In the Fifth Game.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 9.—The Temple Cup goes to Cleveland as the result of the fifth game, in which the champions were outplayed in every point. Up to the seventh inning, however, it looked as if either side might win, although Hoffer suffered rather more than Young, and the visitors got the most men to bases. After this there was trouble, and the home team had all of it. Young opened the fatal period with a corking double to center, and Burkett followed with a single to right field. Then McKean went out. The next man to the bat popped up an easy fly to Kelly in left field, and the side should have been out. It was not, though, by a long shot, for Kelly dropped the fly and Childs went to first, Young coming home with the first run of the game. Then McAleer banged the ball out to Brodie's bailiwick for a single and Burkett came home. More anguish was caused when Captain Tebeau hit safely to right, bringing Childs home. Zimmer ended the agony by striking out.

The Orioles made a tally in their half of the seventh, but the Spiders more than neutralized it by adding two to their string in the eighth. In the last half of the ninth matters looked critical for a few minutes, as Young became wild and sent McGraw and Keeler to bases on balls, after which he hit Jennings and the bases were full. Clarke and Hoffer had been put out before this, however, and the best the champions could do was a single run, which McGraw brought in on Kelly's hit. Then Brodie rapped a little one to Young, who threw it to Tebeau ere Steve's brogans could reach bag No. 1.

The game was over, the Temple cup was lost and won, and the hearts of the Baltimore rooters were as lead within their breasts.

THE KEELEY CURE

Is a special boon to business men who, having drifted unconsciously into the drink habit and awaken to find the disease of alcoholism fastened upon them, rendering them unfit to manage affairs requiring a clear brain. A four weeks course of treatment at the

PITTSBURG KEELEY INSTITUTE,
No. 4246 Fifth Avenue,

restores to them all their powers, mental and physical, destroys the abnormal appetite, and restores them to the condition they were in before they indulged in stimulants. This has been done in more than 1600 cases treated here, and among them some of your own neighbors, to whom we can refer with confidence as to the absolute safety and efficiency of the Keeley Cure. The fullest and most searching investigation is invited. Send for pamphlet giving full information.
